BLOCK ASSOCIATION NEWSLETTER

OCTOBER 30, 2008

Editor: Nancy Lian

Lynn Max attracts Broadway browsers to come to our Yard Sale.

Alex Grannis, with volunteer Karen Hartman, supervises the highly popular Bake Table.

At Yard Sale, Good Spirits Banish Poor Weather, For Great Returns

Neighbors, volunteers and vendors banded together to make the 19th annual Yard Sale a surprising success despite some uncooperative weather. Originally planned for Saturday, Sept. 27, the fair was postponed until the next day because of threatened storms. Sunday came, and in a textbook example of Murphy's Law, within an hour of the fair's opening, a steady shower started.

Undaunted, block vp Nancy Lian hunkered down under an umbrella and continued selling split-the-pot raffle tickets. The pot eventually reached $750, and was won by 309's Molly Sherman; lots of patient effort and skillful selling by Barbara Bryan and other board members had brought the pot up to its exciting total in the weeks leading up to the Yard Sale. Vendors pulled out plastic dropclothes, and grillmaster Jeff Howitt covered up the burgers and hotdogs that were already sizzling. The grill team, including Steve Zirinsky and Ernie Fritz, kept the charcoal glowing while volunteer Ira Gershenhorn hula-hooped steadily during the entire hour of rain. Whether or not it was an anti-rain dance—as some speculated—by 1pm the showers had stopped. Vendor coordinator Gary Waskow helped the hardy souls who'd stayed fold up their drop clothes, and the fair was going again.

To recruit a crowd, board member Lynn Max donned a sign, grabbed some balloons, and headed to Broadway with Gil Tauber to rope 'em in. Soon visitors were wandering the block, while the classic rock of Foley Road (part of the day's music arranged by Missy Cohen) filled the air with favorite hits. The kids' bake table—the Yard Sale's newest feature—did a brisk business (a whopping $141.81) as visitors swarmed up for specialties like key lime pie and meltingly sweet chocolate chip cookies. Meantime, on the main bake table Alex Grannis, helped by volunteers Gail Bryce, Karen Hartman, and Hilde Darre, made sure no one with a sweet tooth went hungry.

Halloween Parade. Our neighborhood parade starts on WEA between 102 and 103 Streets at 6 pm, and continues down toward Riverside on 103rd, south on Riverside, and east on 102nd St. which will be closed to traffic. A photographer will be stationed on Riverside to catch the kids in costume as they come around the corner during the parade. Story telling and refreshments on 102nd St. close out the event. Sponsored by the 102nd & 103rd St. Block Association. Call Stacey Lauren at 212.678.1987 to volunteer to help.

Memorial Gathering Nov. 16

Save the date of Sunday, November 16 at 3 pm (rain or shine) for a dedication of the Sheila Garden Memorial evergreen tree. Sheila was a Block Board member for 15 years from 1991 to 2006, and passed away in January. The tree will already be planted on the middle level of Riverside Park near 104th Street. Someone at the southbound bus stop at 104th St. and Riverside will direct you to the proper spot beginning at 2:45 pm.

Board Member Eleanor Ledogar Steps Down

After five years of diligent service, block association board member Eleanor Ledogar is stepping down to devote more time to Amnesty International and other commitments. She brought to the board her considerable experience from the community health care sector and non-profit management. It proved invaluable at a time when the block association needed to retrench. She also diligently investigated concerns about "street furniture" accumulating on our corners, researched city statutes, and lobbied constructively for improvements. In the last three years, she spearheaded a successful outreach effort to the block's brownstones, making sure that every resident received the block's flyers and newsletters, helping to recruit new volunteers and increase residents' involvement. Throughout her time on the board, she offered a wealth of perceptive insights on a range of issues that made the block association more aware of block and neighborhood concerns. We will sorely miss her.

Next door, Joyce Mann, with a hand from husband Martin and volunteer Joe Rappaport, kept the business brisk at the What-A-Bargain tables.

The book table, manned by volunteer Michael Deegan, and organized by Gil Tauber, proved a hot spot with a treasure trove of art books, netting more than $1000. And over at the Silent Auction, a pair of lacey 1940s negligees worn by the mother of 320 RSD resident Lynn Braswell caused a stir, as did two tickets to "Wicked."

By mid-afternoon, glimpses of blue sky lifted everyone's mood, and soon a group of youngsters joined Ira Gershenhorn in an impromptu hoopfest. By the end of the day, the block association had made $5,114.97 to help pay for the security guard, spring and summer plantings, and more. Thank you board members, neighbors, vendors and volunteers, for hanging in there, and making the day a winner!

Molly Sherman (right) of 309 W 104, the delighted winner of the 50/50 raffle with ticket #890885, is presented with her winnings of $375 by Missy Cohen. Julia Spring of 885 WEA won second prize of Block t-shirts for her household with ticket #890305.

Yard Sale revelers enjoy Ira Gershenhorn's hula lessons.

Enthusiastic Response to Aging in Place Launch

Turnout once more exceeded expectations when a group of neighbors, led by David Reich of the West 102-103rd Block Association, met on Oct. 16 to discuss moving forward with a local Aging in Place initiative. Grouped in a circle in the Marseille's community room, 23 residents of the six streets covered by the West 102-103rd and West 104th St. block associations discussed first steps. The meeting's focus was on creating a concrete action plan with those present committing to carry out the needed steps. Ruth-Ellen Simmonds, executive director of the local non-profit Senior One-Stop, and Barbara van Buren of Community Board 7 attended and lent their expert advice.

The group decided to survey the residents of the buildings within the six blocks about the most constructive volunteer services that could be provided. A committee was formed to draft the survey, and another to research the services that similar groups usually offer. These include grocery shopping, accompanying elderly residents to doctors' appointments, and daily check-ins. The research and draft will be presented at a follow-up meeting on Thursday, Nov. 20. If you are interested in being part of the Aging in Place initiative, please come to the meeting or contact Hanna Rubin at hanna.rubin@verizon.net.

New York Historical Society offers Civil War Exhibit

A special Civil War exhibit, curated by former block resident Kathleen Hulser, continues until March 29, 2009. The Civil War fascinates Americans because it raises so many unsettled questions from our national past, especially the meanings of race and democracy. Ulysses S. Grant and Robert E. Lee star in this exhibit comparing the relationship between civilians and the military. The show asks difficult questions about the lessons of this history for today. The exhibit extends back to the Mexican War, through the Civil War, and forward to Reconstruction and the wars against western Indians. Grant and Lee in War and Peace makes you think about the strengths and limits of the military in our politics and our culture. Courtesy of Kathleen Hulser, public historian

Silent Auction Donors A Big Thank You!

Below are the many restaurants, stores, and neighbors who donated gift certificates, theater and museum tickets, furniture and more to make the Yard Sale's silent auction a success. Despite challenging weather, the auction raised $1163 for the block, and we appreciate the generous support that went into making that happen. Thank you, donors!
