Some Wonderful Things To Do During The Winter Holidays

n response to my article in the November newsletter, I received some wonderful suggestions of things to do during the winter holidays, which I'm delighted to share with you. I hope these ideas lead to new ways for you and your friends and family to celebrate the chilly season.

TeresaElwert

Karen Gershenhorn:

- Singing carols with the block association
- Baking a Buche de Noel with Marisa [her daughter] and her getting to "snow" all over it
- Making snow angels, cross country skiing and sledding in Riverside
- Children's Christmas Eve service at St. John the Divine
- Inviting friends who have no other family in the city to a huge Christmas day dinner and dining by candlelight
- · Shopping by Internet and catalog
- Buying a tree and dragging it home, hopefully trudging through snow
- · Selling Christmas trees (all customers are happy ones): it's like being iin a pine forest all day; and seeing all sorts of great apartments while delivering the trees (yes, I really did this!)
- Going to the beach(it's always a great day at the beach)
- In general, people are nicer and happier than usual
- · Our building party at 320 RSD

Joan Harris:

 Christmas concerts at St. Ignatius Loyola Church (December 15, 16, 17; call 288 3588 for more information)

Richard Russo:

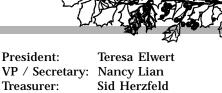

· Open house on Christmas Eve for friends of all religious beliefs

Marsha Tantleff:

- Playing spin the dreidel, staging puppet show and plays about Chanukah
- · Lighting the Menorah eight nights in a row
- Eating latkes (applesauce optional!)

Other favorite activities:

- · Decorating the apartment with holiday symbols: stars, menorahs, dreidels, pine bough swags, mistletoe and other festive signs of
- Christmas Revels at Symphony Space (December 8, 9, 10; call 864 5400 for more information)
- · Handel's Messiah performed by the Oratorio Society of New York at Carnegie Hall (December 21; call 228-5307 for information)
- Professor Peter Schickele's annual concerts at Carnegie Hall (December 26, 27; call 247 7800 for more information)
- Candlelight Christmas Eve service at St. John the Divine
- Exhibit of Extraordinary Model Railroading at the Citicorp Center,
- · And, of course, gift-giving (and receiving!)

he block association's annual Holiday Sing will take place Thursday, December 14, from 7:30 to 8:30. Residents of all ages and religious beliefs are warmly welcomed and should meet in the lobby of 905 West End. We'll sing up and down the street and around the corner on West End. Sheet music will be provided. Bring your voice, jingle bells, warm mittens, and holiday spirit. Warm up afterwards at a party in a board member's apartment.

Silver Moon Bakery

By Marsha Tantleff

ntering the Silver Moon Bakery at Broadway and 105th St. is like taking a trip to Paris or Italy. The pastries are displayed in a glass showcase. The delectable assortment of breads are on a baker's rack adjacent to the pastries in full view and not far from the oven. Café tables and chairs are beckoning customers to linger over possibly an Almond croissant and a cappuccino while watching life go by on Broadway. Everything looks so inviting that choosing only a single item becomes difficult.

The 15 kinds of bread on the menu range in price from $2.00 to $5.00. Judith Norell, the proprietor, loves to improvise and create new breads daily. The excess dough from one suddenly becomes the source for an exciting luscious new loaf.

Judith is the chief baker of her wonderful new establishment. In addition to Judith, there are two other bakers, one pastry chef and an assistant pastry chef. Judith first started baking as a child with her mother who was a dance instructor at an Arthur Murray Dance Studio. She has trained at the French Culinary Institute and worked in a bakery in Paris and in Soho at Le Pan Quotidien. Most of her career prior to The Silver Moon has been in the not-for-profit sector. For 7 years she ran a music festival in Florida. She also served as the Executive Director of the Women's Campaign School at Yale University. An accomplished harpsichordist and conductor of Baroque Opera, tango dancing is also a great passion of hers.

A neighborhood resident for 30 years, Judith is very pleased to be able to set up shop almost in her own backyard. Somewhat of a celebrity. She created and baked a specially decorated bread for the cast party after the final episode of Seinfeld, the hit show on NBC. She also does elaborately decorated birthday cakes.

Awash Ethiopian Restaurant

by Teresa Elwert

In the March newsletter, we suggested some Amsterdam Ave. restaurants you might like to try. Well, Gil Tauber and I recently went to one of them: Awash (961 1416), at 947 Amsterdam, just north of 106th St. As is the custom in Ethiopian restaurants, we ate with our fingers, tearing off a piece of bread and rolling a bit of our meal up in it (shortly after sitting down, we were offered wet, warm facecloths with which to wash our hands). About that bread: it looked and felt like a piece of thin foam rubber; fortunately, though, it tasted fine. We each had an Ethiopian beer, brewed in one of our 50 states with Ethiopian ingredients. The service was warm, gracious, and efficient. The restaurant was full, with academic types and Ethiopians alike, who all no doubt appreciated having a satisfying meal at a reasonable price.

- at 905 WEA at 7:30 for an hour of neighborhood singing. Cookies and cider follow.
- 12/16 1000 Paper Cranes: A Holiday Workshop. At St. John the Divine, see triptych, gold menorahs and giant Peace Tree with 1000 paper cranes. Make triptych cards, candle holders and origami peace cranes. $5. Call 932-7347.
- 12/16 Manhattan School of Music Preparatory Division Symphony Orchestra plays Beethoven's Eamont Overrture, Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto and Dvorak's Slavonic Dances, John C. Borden Auditorium, 3 pm. Free.
- Hanukkah Highlights, a family celebration to make 12/17 decorations, with theater and orchestra. 92nd St. Y, Lex. Ave at 92nd St. Party: 1:45-2:45, Concert 3-4 pm. Tickets: crafts, $5/child; concert $15/child. Call 996-1100.
- 12/17 Candlelight Carol Festival, Riverside Church, 3 pm and 5:30 pm. Admission $15 adults, $10 seniors and students. Call 870-6784 for tickets.
- 12/21 A Cathedral Christmas, St. John the Divine, seasonal music, readings and carol sing-along, 7:30 p.m.
- Klezmer Music, with stories and humor. Museum of Jewish 12/24 Heritage, 18 First Place, Battery Park City, 11:30-12:30. Admission $7, adults, $5 seniors, students & children under 5 free. Call 945-0039 for more information.

The Holly Tree, Ancient Symbol of Rebirth

Ned Barnard

American holly

ibex opaca

Holly tree with its shiny evergreen leaves and brilliant red fruit has been a symbol of rebirth since ancient times. The Holly King of pagan Britain reigned over the darker half of the year when nights were long and days short, ascending the throne as the oak king was sacrificed in midsummer fires. However, the Holly King himself was sacrificed at the winter solstice to make way again for the monarch of the months of light. During Yule, a 12-day Nordic celebration beginning in late November, a boy decked with holly boughs and a girl twined with ivy paraded through the streets reminding celebrators that spring would follow winter. Later on Christians retained holly as a symbol of rebirth at Christmas time, also associating the thorny leaves with Christ's suffering and the red berries with his blood. With the commercialization and secularization of Christmas, holly along with Santa Claus and Christmas trees has become merely an emblem of good cheer and holiday spirit much as it was for the ancient Romans during Saturnalia, a festival held in mid December.

Of the thirteen species of North American holly, American holly (Ilex opaca) is the only common native species in the Northeast and the only broadleaf native tree in our area to retain its leaves through the winter. The leaves of the American holly are a dull, yellowish green and usually have prickly margins. Holly trees are either male or female, and the female trees only set seed when a male tree is nearby. The brilliant red fruits often persist through the winter and are eaten by wildlife, but they are said to be poisonous to humans. American holly trees are planted in many of the City's parks, botanical gardens, and cemeteries. Several other holly species, hybrids, and cultivars are also present in the metropolitan area including English holly (Ilex aquifolium), which has shinier, darker leaves than those of American holly. A few small American holly trees stand along the East Drive in Central Park at the southern end of Poet's Walk; several other fine specimens can also be found in the New York Botanical Garden, the Brooklyn Botanic Garden, Woodlawn Cemetery, and Greenwood Cemetery.

Recycle Your Christmas Tree

You have two ways to recycle your holiday tree this season. The Department of Sanitation will pick it up from the corner of West End Ave. and 104th St. between December 27 and January 8 (approximately). Or, on Saturday, January 6, bring your tree into Riverside Park at the stairs at 108th St. and watch the Parks Department chip it into mulch; refreshments will be served. In preparation for recycling, remove all decorations from the tree and take it out of its plastic bag.

And to ship your last-minute package to its lucky recipient, go to the post office on 104th St. (662 9191), Mail Boxes Etc. at 2565 Broadway (96th and 97th), or the nearest Federal Express store at Broadway and 116th St. (open 8:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.).

You Said NO to Personal Motor Transportation

The response to last month's mini-questionnaire about personal motor transportation – motorized scooters and skateboards, and jet skies – is unanimous: ban them! While only a handful of you readers responded, the unanimity of response suggests that most of you readers would have said NO had they returned the survey. We'll relay the results to Bill Perkins, our City Council member.

A Grateful Doe Fund

Three Doe Fund men – Julio, Justin, and William – recently planted bulbs in the tree gardens on our block. In response to a $250 contribution the block association made to the Fund, George McDonald, its founder and president, wrote us a kind letter, which is excerpted here. "Over the past six years, the men in blue have worked to transform the Upper East and West Sides of Manhattan, and they are now an important part of the community. You and your neighbors have welcomed them with warm smiles and friendly words of encouragement. These simple gestures mean the world to our participants and help to give them the confidence and sense of self esteem they need." Amen. Contributions to the Fund are taxdeductible: 232 East 84th St., New York, NY 10028.
